Good decision-making starts with one simple habit: Commit to your default decision up front. You'll choose it by making a judgment call about which action is the lesser evil under ignorance. Choosing a default action is difficult for decision-makers who aren't used to it.

The First Thing Great Decision Makers Do | 1BusinessWorld

Great Decisions is America's largest discussion program on world affairs. The program model involves reading the Great Decisions Briefing Book, watching the DVD and meeting in a Discussion Group to discuss the most critical global issues facing America today.

Great Decisions - Foreign Policy Association

The first "Great Decisions" group was launched in Portland, Oregon in 1954 by FPA's Vice President Roger Mastrude. Based on the so-called "Avon" model of face-to-face, active and informal conversation, participants would read a fact sheet on each of the eight topics before meetings, where they aired their respective views and opinions.

Excellent points, Marcia. I think another factor is the brain's drive to efficiency - wanting to reduce potentially complex decisions to their simplest form (like yes or no) to enable a quick decision and action. With survival at stake, and with fewer complex decisions to make each day, this efficiency process was effective in the savannah.

With the Supreme Court decision to redefine marriage (Which I've been calling our "Genesis 19 Moment"), along with many other events happening in the world, many wonder what kind of evil has been unleashed upon the world. Many of these events correspond to approved prophecies, most of which have been given in the past two centuries.
